PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

SCI's Annual Meeting Very Informative

By James F. McConkey, Jr., President—RSCC

The 55th Annual Meeting of Sister Cities International (SCI) was held March 3rd through the 5th at the Marriott Crystal Gateway Hotel in Arlington, Virginia, and I attended as a representative of RSCC.

Among many other activities and informative sessions, a breakfast meeting was addressed by Brad Cole, Chairman of the SCI Board of Directors, Representative Michael Honda (D-CA), and Senator Richard Durbin (D-IL), Majority Whip. These gentlemen instructed the attendees on how to lobby their state representatives to support SCI in the federal budget neighborhood. Ms. Lewis gave a brief summary of how the State Department partners with and supports the Sister City Program. Among other initiatives, the State Department contributes about $400,000 per year to SCI. There are a number of grants also available to support local initiatives in city-to-city relationships, but these must have some economic or cultural development aspect to be considered.

The attendees participated in several discussion groups on specific topics. I attended a session on developing relations with Asian partners. I met groups from China, Taiwan, Japan, and Mongolia and collected a number of business cards as possible future contacts. I learned that most of the developing relationships start with an economic development basis.

It was my observation that the majority of relationships represented at the conference were from large cities with multiple partners. The interests of smaller organizations like RSCC were largely ignored in the agenda. I expressed this opinion to Patrick Madden and several members of the SCI staff and suggested that part of future programs be focused on their activities.

There were also a number of Sister Cities University workshops. I first attended one entitled "Tips and Tricks for Success in the New Fundraising World." Some of the ideas put forth at this session included:

1. Boards of Directors should act more as policy makers and project leaders and should draw on other members to do the majority of committee work.
2. Board of Directors members should be major donors to the organization and should essentially buy a position with a minimum annual donation (e.g., $ 100 or more).
3. Board of Directors members should be limited to no more than three consecutive terms of three years each.
4. The major source of funding should be funds solicited from corporations and civic organizations or philanthropic members of the community.
5. Big cities get support for their programs from the city government, but many of these organizations are run as government departments.

There was a working lunch on sister cities and economic development as well. The major idea from this session was that Sister City organizations can sponsor business development forums with business partners from their communities.

Beyond the informative sessions, workshops, and roundtables, I met a number of people. One individual might even help us secure some long-needed assistance with our web site. So, all in all, attending the Sister Cities International Annual Meeting was time well spent.

The next Annual Conference will be held in Jacksonville, Florida in July 2012.

RSCC Seeks Host Family, Travelers

By Norm Hampton

The Rockville Sister City Corporation (RSCC), as part of its 50+ year relationship with Pinneberg, Germany, will sponsor a German exchange student who will attend a Rockville high school during the 2012 – 13 academic year.

The male exchange student will arrive in August 2012 to attend high school in Rockville during the school year. He visited Rockville in July 2010 and is very excited about spending a school year here.

The student will stay in the home of a Rockville family to maximize his learning experience about America as well as to further develop his English language skills. This arrangement can be just as much of a learning experience for the host family as it is for the student. In addition, Sister City host families in the past have often developed long-lasting relationships with the students who stay in their homes. In preparation for this student exchange, RSCC is seeking to identify an area family willing to host the exchange student so that we can promptly begin procedures necessary for his acceptance into the Montgomery County school system.

RSCC will provide administrative, advisory, and logistical support for the visitor (such as arranging for the student to attend school and for a student visa). The student will pay for his own incidental expenses (such as medical care, lunch, and entertainment). The host family will be responsible for expenses related only to room and board and for appropriate supervision. The IRS may allow a tax deduction for certain expenses incurred by host families. RSCC is a tax-exempt, non-profit 509(c)(3) organization. Much of your financial support to RSCC programs is, therefore, tax-deductible.

RSCC is also seeking Rockville students who may be interested in attending school in Pinneberg. Families interested in hosting a Pinneberg student or sending a student to Pinneberg should contact Norm Hampton at 301 251-8651.

Board Meeting Schedule

RSCC Board of Director meetings are open to the public and are held on the second Wednesday of each month—except December—at 7:30 PM in City Hall, 111 Maryland Avenue, in Rockville.
