PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

A Year of Accomplishments

By James F. McConkey, Jr., President—RSCC

To start the year, Wootton High School hosted a group of students from the Theodor Heuss Schule. About the same time, RSCC members hosted a clarinet ensemble from the Pinneberg Musikschule, who gave a concert at the Glenview Mansion with a similar group from the Maryland Classical Youth Orchestra. The National Philharmonic graciously welcomed this group and their hosts with a concert at the Strathmore Music Center.

A group of students visited Pinneberg and the surrounding areas in Germany in June. The trip this year was accompanied by Ms. Sue Thorpe, who has replaced Tony DeRosa as the coordinator of these exchange visits. Ms. Thorpe and two of the students will speak at our Annual Meeting about the benefits of such student exchanges. We will also host another visit to Wootton by the Gemeinschaftschule about the time this newsletter is published.

RSCC sponsored its second annual observance of German-American Day with a dinner at the Old Europe restaurant, which garnered over $600 to support our cultural programs. We held our Spring Wine Tasting in conjunction with Jackie's Wine Shop and a Dim Sum Festival at the New Fortune Restaurant. These latter two events were fundraisers as well.

Arrangements were made and joint efforts with the Art Gallery at the Glenview Mansion were undertaken to host an exhibit of the surrealistic works by Detlef Allenberg, a Pinneberg artist, this month.

RSCC hosted a reception and arranged for harpist Kathleen Meredith to entertain our guests.

Besides the Din Sum dinner, RSCC erected and manned a booth at Rockville's Lunar New Year celebration. Also supporting our efforts towards our Asian community and to the enhancement of our Friendship City status with Jiaying, RSCC partnered with local GO clubs to sponsor a

Wei Qi tournament at the Rockville United Church. [Jim: Wasn't this at the Unitarian Church?]

Our efforts to reach out to the Rockville community led to the production and taping of a TV broadcast about the efforts of our non-profit corporation on Channel 19 TV Access Montgomery. We also initiated a project to support sending Rockville's

CULTURAL EVENTS

RSCC Celebrates German-American Day

By James McConkey

RSCC will again celebrate the founding of the first permanent settlement of Germans in America at Germantown, Pennsylvania on October 6th, 1683, by holding a dinner at the Old Europe restaurant on Wisconsin Avenue in the District on Sunday, October 2nd, 2011. A sit-down dinner, based on a variation of the traditional Oktoberfest menu, will be served buffet style. Patrons can purchase their favorite beers, wines, cocktails, or soft drinks from the cash bar. The festivities will commence at 5:30 PM.

As at previous dinners, a selection of prizes will be offered for a raffle to augment the funds supporting our cultural programs. We will have a brief talk about German immigration and the contributions of some of those émigrés to America.

Tickets are priced at $40 for members and $45 for non-members of RSCC. Contact Jim McConkey at jfmccejr@comcast.net or Brigitta Mullican at coburg1@verizon.net to reserve a seat. Reservation forms and/or applications for membership will be returned to you by e-mail. [Jim: I'm not quite sure what you mean by that.] Please make your reservations by September 20th. Seating is limited to 65 persons.

Another significant project this year was the review and proposed revision of our major governing documents, including the by-laws, policies and procedures, and duties of the officers. We hope to have the latest versions posted on our website by the end of the year. RSCC also generated a new policy on the formation of new sister cities to provide guidance to the numerous groups inquiring about partnerships with Rockville.

RSCC welcomes individuals, families, and corporations as members. We have significantly increased the number of corporate sponsors in the past year. If you agree with us that the Sister City mission to promote mutual respect and understanding of differences between people of different cultures is a worthwhile endeavor, we invite you to complete the Membership Application on the cover

2011 Goethe Prizes Awarded

By Rotraut Bockstahler, copied with permission from the American Goethe Society's Das Blatt

The new German-American Heritage Museum in downtown Washington was the setting for the American Goethe Society's 4th Annual Goethe Prize ceremony on May 26th, 2011. The winners, all advanced students of German (third year and above) from area high schools in suburban Virginia and Maryland, were nominated by their teachers. Candidates were also required to submit a written composition on a topic of their choosing. Erika Joyce, AGS president, and Professor Irmgard Wagner, Goethe Prize administrator, presented each recipient with a certificate and a check for $100. Those students recognized for their outstanding accomplishments in German Language studies were Ariana Chaivaranon, Jason Dodge, Lauren Falkenstein, Alexandra Hoenscheid, Kelsey Hood, Lisa Junta, Jeremy Khaw, Thomas O'Duden, Alison Regan and Kevin Vallejo. After the presentations, a reception hosted by AGS members was held for the winners, their proud families, friends, and teachers. The AGS thanks Rüdiger Lentz, museum director and his staff for their gracious hospitality.

Congratulations, Jeremy Khaw! He is a student at T. S. Wootton High School. He was nominated by foreign languages teacher Mr. Anthony DeRosa and is a very serious and motivated student of the German language and culture.

Denkbar—A New Venture

By Rotraut Bockstahler

How about adding some philosophical thinking (denkbare Dinge) to your life?

Beginning this September, the American Goethe Society is planning a monthly gathering in the afternoon, with coffee and conversation about philosophy (in English). The plan is to facilitate a philosophical discussion that takes us on a leisurely inquiry into the history of ideas, beginning with the ancients, Plato and Aristotle. The emphasis will be on participants' questions that will be generated by the problems these philosophers raise. Texts supplied at cost. Venues will be decided later. Wootton Students Visit Pinneberg

By Sue Thorpe

Anyone living around or visiting Rockville has seen the "Sister City: Pinneberg, Germany" signs throughout the town. While it's one thing to have heard about Pinneberg, it is truly eye opening to realize that Pinneberg is a living, breathing city like Rockville, not just a name on a sign. Thirteen students and one teacher, all from Thomas S. Wootton High School, took part in an exchange program in June with students and families in Pinneberg. Throughout the two-week journey, the visitors formed long-lasting friendships and had incredible experiences. Here are reflections from some of the students:

After a 10-hour journey that included a three-hour delay, we arrived in Hamburg—exhausted, hungry, but excited about what was to come. We were all terrified that we would not get along with or be able to communicate with our host families. But as we stepped out in the Hamburg airport atrium, all of our fears dissolved when we realize our families were waiting for us, smiling and waving. They quickly welcomed us into their homes with open arms and open hearts. We spent our first weekend individually with our families, but met up throughout the next week to see the sights in Pinneberg and Hamburg. We experienced a typical German school day, met the mayor of Pinneberg, climbed at a local high-ropes park, visited the Hamburg Emigration Museum, and walked through a building entirely in the dark. This last activity, called "Dialogue in the Dark," was a museum designed to illustrate what it's like to be blind.

During our second week in Germany, we took a train to Berlin. As we explored the city, we noticed, among other things, how convenient the transportation system was. Berlin is a city with a long and violent history: from the nearly-destroyed Gedächtniskirche to the ever-present Berlin Wall, we were constantly reminded of the city's difficult past. We visited major landmarks around the city, like the Brandenburg Gate, the German History Museum, and the TV Tower, and we took a boat tour on the River Spree. We were even lucky enough to receive a private tour of the German Parliament Building, the Reichstag, considered by many the most important building in Germany. We climbed to its dome and saw a panoramic view of the city.

Soon, it was time to pack up and say goodbye to our host families. We spent our last day preparing a meal we shared together with all the families. As we all sat together, we reflected on our experiences for the past two weeks. The food was different, but tasty: Schnitzel, Döner, Goulash, Bratwurst, and lots of bread. We were surprised to find that mineral water is the standard water in Germany. The small, compact cars everyone drove also impressed us, but surprisingly enough, cars were not the main mode of transportation—bikes were. It was as if Germans were doing all they could to minimize pollution. Overall, we could not thank our host families enough for welcoming us into their households.

We want to thank the Rockville Sister City Corporation for their support for this entire adventure. We greatly appreciate their generous contribution to the farewell celebration with our host families and to our visit to Berlin. We will never forget the great time we had in Germany. We made friendships that will last for the rest of our lives, and we all grew from the experience . . . and now we can't wait to see our German friends when they come see us in September!

Host Families/Guests Forge Friendship

By Jim Sadler

On June 6th, 2010 the Rockville Chorus visited Pinneberg, Germany and was greeted with a warm welcome by the Burgermeisterin and city officials. During our week I had the good fortune to stay with the Glismann family, all of whom spoke excellent English. Norbert Glismann installs and services high-speed mail sorting equipment throughout Germany; Elke is an attorney in a Hamburg bank; and 15 year-old Katja is a talented violinist and the only child of a Pinneberg host family to play in the youth orchestra. I also had the great pleasure to meet Elke's father, Siegfried Sonneborn, a retiree, who took me to several events when Norbert and Elke were at work. He was a radio operator in the German army near the close of WW II and became a USA prisoner. Since I was a radio operator in the US army during WW II, Siegfried and I spent hours exchanging communication experiences.

The Glismann family and Siegfried toured several states on the West Coast during the summer of 2010, but this year they decided to visit the East Coast and Rockville. The week before Easter they returned to visit New York City and then made their first visit to Rockville.

My youngest son Brian, his wife Laurie, and their daughters Erica and Jillian joined the Glismanns for a day tour of Washington, D.C. and another day visiting Baltimore's Inner Harbor. My wife Anne and I escorted the Glismanns, Brian's family, and our oldest son Fred and his wife Barbara on a delightful Potomac River evening dinner cruise. The group attended Easter Sunday services at Faith Methodist Church and enjoyed dinner at our home. We have established a bond that hopefully will result in more exchange visits. Thanks to the Rockville Sister City Corp for promoting such cultural and personal exchanges.

The DAGRP Plans Visit to the US

By James McConkey

The Deutsch-Amerikanische Gesellschaft Rockville-Pinneberg (DAGRP) has initiated a tour to the United States for citizens of Pinneberg. It is being called Eine Sonderreise an die Ostküste der USA (A Special Trip to the East Coast of the USA). The DAGRP is currently taking reservations for the trip to take place from May 7th to the 16th, 2012, and 17 reservations have already been booked. The tour is being arranged in partnership with Globetrotter Reisebüro GmbH, similar to RSCC's arrangement with Nexus Holidays and the trip to China.

The Sonderreise itinerary includes visits to New York City; Philadelphia and York, Pennsylvania, including the Amish area; Washington, DC; and Annapolis. In addition, the group will spend two days in Rockville. The group will be housed in the Best Western Plus hotel in Rockville, so hosting arrangements are not needed this time, but RSCC should be planning for the visitors' time in Rockville.

It is hoped that this activity will attract new members to the DAGRP.

COMMUNICATIONS

Annual Meeting in September

By James McConkey

RSCC will hold its Annual Membership Meeting on Tuesday, September 27th, 2011 at the Glenview Mansion in the Rockville Civic Center Park. Members will be welcomed at a reception starting at 6:30 PM. The business meeting will open at 7:30 PM.

Accomplishments for the year will be reviewed, including the Allenberg Art Exhibit, the student exchange programs, the initial Dim Sum Festival, the status of the Friendship Agreement with Jiaying, and the initiation of a project to send Rockville's "The Finest!" Performing Youth Group to Pinneberg in 2012. The major considerations for the membership will be the approval of a comprehensive revision of our by-laws and the election of new directors.

Susan Thorpe, the Wootton High School advisor, and two of the students who visited Pinneberg earlier this year, plus one of the teachers from the Gemeinschaftschule, currently escorting a group of German students visiting Rockville, will speak briefly on the importance and the benefits of exchange programs to our youth and their understanding of the world and other cultures.

Board of Directors Changes

By James McConkey

Sadly, several members of the RSCC Board of Directors found it necessary to resign their positions in the past year. Ying Chen first gave up her position as the key contact with Jiaying. Then Wayne Savage had to leave because of business conflicts. Most recently Norm Hampton left the board. The contributions of three will be missed.

Bingjib Huang is trying to establish new contacts with the Jiaying government. We also are trying to find an interested member to fill Ying's position as a Director. Both Wayne and Norm were Mayor and Council appointees, and we are awaiting actions by the Mayor and Council to fill these positions. We understand that applications for positions on the Board by Carol Nicholas and Maricka Brown have been made to the City Clerk. These positions have been advertised in Rockville Reports.

Board Meeting Schedule

RSCC Board of Director meetings are open to the public. Board meetings are held on the second Wednesday of each month—except December—at 7:30 PM in City Hall, 111 Maryland Avenue, in Rockville.
